

Church Threat To U. S. Liberty Seen By Oxnam

Roman Belief Rapped By Methodist Bishop

Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Dec. 8. (AP)—American liberty is threatened by the Roman Catholic church as well as by Communism, says Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

"The Roman Catholic church does not believe in religious liberty as we understand it," the bishop told the annual meeting of the board of missions and church extension of the Methodist church last night.

"The Communist party," he added, "does not believe in civil liberty as we understand it."

"I regret to record these matters," the bishop said. "However, Protestants must understand and face them to meet a crisis, now world-wide, in which freedom itself is at stake."

"When the Roman Catholic church or the Communist party seeks to deny us either religious or civil liberty our freedom is involved," he declared, "and it is not a part of tolerance to submit to such denials until at last our freedom passes."

Linking this "threat" to the current discussion over the use of public funds for parochial education, the bishop said that issue now becomes one of major importance.

"It is part of a carefully calculated plan to break down the American doctrine of the separation of the church and state, part of a plan to mold the thinking of youth as to discount the values that lie in liberty of conscience and of worship, in liberty of speech and of press," the bishop said.

No Religious Favorites

Calling the public school system in the U. S. "one of our greatest achievements," Bishop Oxnam said the system stands as a bulwark of democracy.

"To discredit our schools by calling them 'Godless schools' is not only to mislead the people but also to undermine this bulwark of democracy," Bishop Oxnam said, adding:

"To drain off vast sums from public education to support private and parochial education is essentially so to weaken the public system as to destroy it."

"We must not allow our community to become divided. Let us end this tendency to divide groups that ought to be American into sectarian groups."

"This whole move in the realm of education is one that must be examined by men and women who believe in religious liberty. It is basic to the maintenance of that liberty that we hold to the old American principle that our state does not play religious favorites."

Operation In Chicago Fails To Save Girl, 4, From Rare Disease

Chicago, Dec. 8. (AP)—Patty Owens, a frail little girl who suffered a rare disease most of her young life, died yesterday, ending her hope of celebrating one more Christmas.

Patty, ill with a fibrocystic disease since shortly after she was born four years ago, died shortly after an operation on her windpipe at Illinois Research hospital. She was brought to the hospital Tuesday after a cross-country train ride from California.

The fibrocystic disease caused her lungs to fill with a heavy secretion which was smothering her.

Surgeons opened a small hole in her windpipe to make her breathing easier and aid in removal of the secretion. But the advanced stages of her disease and her long train ride made the operation unsuccessful.

Vandenberg Picked To Lead Attack On U. S. Foreign Policy

Washington, Dec. 8. (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) is being urged by some Republicans to clear the way for GOP attacks on the administration's attitude toward China, Spain and possibly Israel.

Recuperating in Michigan from a major operation, Vandenberg has informed friends here he plans to return to Washington for the opening of the new session of Congress Jan. 3.

Most of his party colleagues want the Michigan senator to clarify early in the session the Republican course on the bipartisan foreign policy.

Some of those interested say frankly they hope that while Vandenberg will call for continued Republican cooperation with the Democrats on major foreign issues, he will point out as he has in the past that the GOP has not been consulted in advance except on decisions in a narrow field.

Senator Brewster of Maine, chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee, is said to believe the Republicans can make issues in the 1950 campaign of the China, Spain and possibly the Israel problem with its continuing turmoil and dissension.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.), primed by a trip to the Orient, apparently is coming back to Washington intent on raising Cain with the administration over what he says are the policies by which China was defaulted to the Communists.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) and others are ready to sail into the Democrats for failing to establish full diplomatic relations with Spain. Brewster may tee off on the Israel problem.

The defeat of Senator Dulles (R-NY) by Democratic former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in New York's special senatorial contest figures in the situation. In that defeat Vandenberg lost his best helper in keeping the GOP fairly well lined up behind the bipartisan foreign policy in the last session.

Big Aluminum Plants Reopen

Pay Pacts End Strike Started Oct. 17

Pittsburgh, Dec. 8. (AP)—Eight aluminum company of America plants which have been strike-bound since October 17 began opening today to prepare for full-scale production.

The 17,000 CIO United Steelworkers at the plants are covered by a new contract which gives them wage adjustments, pensions and insurance. The agreement, reached yesterday, provides $100 monthly minimum pensions, including social security, and social insurance benefits.

Under the new contract, the company bears all pension and insurance costs, except the workers continue their contributions to social security. The company program makes up the difference between social security pensions and $100 for workers aged 65 with 25 years' service.

Social insurance benefits, included in previous contracts, provided a $2,000 life insurance policy while the employee works and a $1,500 paid-up policy on retirement. $26-a-week sick benefits for 26 weeks; $8.50 a day hospitalization for 31 days; $85 for special hospital services and pay for surgery up to $225.

Pension provisions are virtually the same as those which ended the recent nationwide steel strike. However, Alcoa is taking over all costs of the insurance program where in steel the workers and industry each contribute two and one-half cents hourly.

Conviction Upheld In Swamp Slaying Of Oakland County

Lansing, Dec. 8. (AP)—The conviction of George B. Coapman for the Oakland county "swamp slaying" in 1947 was upheld by the state supreme court Wednesday.

Coapman, 33, was found guilty of first degree murder for the slaying of Richard E. Schweitzer, 26, of Detroit, on an auto ride from Detroit to Port Sanilac.

Schweitzer was bludgeoned with a piece of lead and then choked with a rope.

According to the court records, Coapman admitted his guilt two months after the slaying, then retracted his confession and placed the guilt on his younger brother, Charles, who drove the car on the ride.

Two Detroit Negroes Held In Torch Death

Detroit (AP)—Accused of murder in a neighbor's torch death, David Brantley and Ulysses Louis (Negroes) stood mute Wednesday and were held without bail for examination Dec. 19. The victim, Leo Mack, 49, died of burns after gasoline had been thrown on him and his clothes set afire.

City Of New York Has Water Famine

New York, Dec. 8. (AP)—The world's biggest city doesn't have enough water today to let its residents wash their cars.

As authorities worked to plug the holes in New York's fast-emptying water barrel, new restrictions were imposed to conserve remaining supplies.

For the first time, the pinch really was being felt directly by the public.

All "non-essential" use of water were out, by order of Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney.

Justice Vinson Helps Truman Write Message

President Briefs His Staff In Florida

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Key West, Fla., Dec. 8. (AP)—Close associates disclosed today that President Truman will confer with Chief Justice Vinson before writing the final draft of his "State of the Union" message to Congress.

Word came from the "Little White House" here that the chief executive has invited the sage Kentuckian here to enjoy the Florida sunshine and talk over high level administration strategy.

These sources said there is no one in whose judgment the president has more reliance than that of his former secretary of the treasury.

In addition, the president and the chief justice are warm personal friends and boon companions.

While Vinson as a member of the judiciary has remained apart from rough and tumble politics, he had always been available for consultation by the president and they frequently get together for the discussion of national problems.

The chief justice is reported to have told the president he would not be able to leave Washington this week, but would try to make it next week.

May Be $5 Billion

Meanwhile, Frank Pace, director of the budget, is due in today at the president's vacation retreat for conferences on the proposed new budget for the fiscal year starting next July. It is expected to exceed this year's recommendation of $41,900,000,000 which likely will be greater when the accounts are in, and may run as high as $45,000,000,000.

The president, like a top general directing his military staff, called 16 of the White House staff out on the lawn of the "Little White House" yesterday afternoon and laid down the law as he would like to see it enacted by Congress.

Using mimeographed sheets prepared in advance, the president went over, point by point, the proposals he intends to include in the "State of the Union" message he will deliver to Congress in person January 3.

Safer Chinese Capital Sought

Seat Of Government Moves To Formosa

Chengtu, China, Dec. 8. (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists decided Thursday to transfer the seat of government to Taipei, Formosa.

The decision was reached at an emergency session of Premier Yen Hsi-Shan's cabinet.

Formosa is Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold which has been armed and equipped for a last ditch stand against victorious Chinese Communists.

The emergency cabinet session also decided to make Sichang, in Sikang province west of Chengtu, general headquarters for operations on the mainland.

The cabinet accepted the resignation of Gen. Chiang Chun, the post of director of southwest China headquarters. Gen. Ku Chu Tung, was given this job in addition to his present duties as chief of staff.

Lawmakers Trace More Secret Atomic Shipments To Russia

Washington, Dec. 8. (AP)—House probes are on the trail of more wartime atomic shipments to Russia—shipments number 4 and 5.

They have reason to believe perhaps 500 pounds of uranium compound reached the Reds around July of 1944. And they think they may be able to spot proof that the Russians got 1,000 grams of heavy water.

The Un-American Activities committee also is trying to find out just what former lend-lease officials William C. Moore and James P. Hoopes had to do with shipment number two back in the spring of 1943.

It wants to know why Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, boss of the atom bomb project, was reported to have approved the shipment when Groves said he didn't.

The committee is exploring, too, an idea that the Soviets might have side-stepped the lend-lease administration to get some atomic materials elsewhere.

But except for some checking on items like these by the committee staff, the latest atomic explosion on Capitol Hill apparently has just about subsided until Dec. 19.

Moore, Hoopes, and former Vice President Henry A. Wallace may be witnesses then.

Wallace will get a chance to deny under oath what Groves has already denied for him—that Wallace put on pressure and overruled Groves to get atomic materials for the Soviets. Wallace has termed this "sheerest fabrication."

It was a radio commentator, Fulton Lewis, Jr., who said Wallace was the source of pressure.

Wallace telegraphed the committee that "I would like to meet my traducers face-to-face before your committee at the earliest possible moment."

Groves, now retired, told the committee yesterday that the late Harry L. Hopkins, White House adviser and lend-lease expediter, didn't apply pressure on him either.

So far, the committee says it actually knows of only three atomic shipments to the Russians, all in 1943. The first was 420 pounds of uranium oxide and nitrate, the second 1,000 pounds of the same. The third was a sample of about two pounds of uranium metal that wouldn't have done the Soviets much good.

The hospital said Mrs. Connie Craig had 30 stitches from tendon cuts but was expected to recover. The condition of her 29-year-old sister, Mrs. Ruth Reid, was reported not serious.

The fire broke out last night when Mrs. Craig, who lives upstairs from Mrs. Reid, threw fuel oil on a wood-burning stove in Mrs. Reid's kitchen.

The stove exploded and sent flames spurting across the room. Her hair ablaze, Mrs. Craig was thrown across the room. But she got up and her sister dashed about the home rounding up the youngsters, Mrs. Craig thrust them through windows to safety.

All six children escaped with minor cuts. They were the Reids' four—Alton, 8, Cleo, 4, Frederick, 2 and Asa, eight months; and Mrs. Craig's two—Harry 5, and Thomas 4.

Three years ago another Reid home was burned to the ground and all the family's possessions lost.

Mrs. Reid's husband Charles was at work here at the time. Mrs. Craig is divorced.

Training In Atomic Defense Given U. S. Soldiers In Europe

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 8. (AP)—American soldiers in Europe will start learning atomic defense measures as a normal part of their training next year.

U. S. Army headquarters announced last night troops are to be told about the effects of atomic explosions and the best defenses against them. Commanders of U. S. Army, Air Force and Naval Forces in Europe were brought up to date on the latest word in atomic defenses at a recent conference at army headquarters in Heidelberg.

Missing Oakland Airliner Sighted; 7 In Wreckage

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 8. (AP)—Wreckage of a missing commercial airliner with seven aboard was sighted today from the air near Pacheco, south of Martinez, in Contra Costa county, authorities announced.

It was not immediately determined whether there were any survivors among the crew of three and four passengers on the California Arrow Airlines two-engine DC-3 plane. Ground rescue crews were rushing to the area.

The plane, from Burbank, disappeared yesterday in a heavy rainstorm shortly after it took off from Oakland airport for Sacramento.

State Officials Going To Court

Roth And Nims Face Contempt Charges

Lansing, Dec. 8. (AP)—The state supreme court refused yesterday to let former Governor Kim Sigler prosecute the Ivan A. Johnston bribery case and Circuit Judge Paul R. Cash of Alma announced immediately that he would not act as the trial judge.

The court, ruling in a white-hot case, held that Attorney General Stephen J. Roth was within his rights in stepping into the case and that Sigler's appointment as special prosecutor was illegal.

The decision was interpreted as a rebuke to Judge Cash, sitting as a visiting judge in the Macomb county case. Judge Cash had appointed Sigler, refused to let Roth intervene and implied that Roth was too friendly with gamblers.

"I will ask the presiding circuit judge to relieve me from the trial," Judge Cash said. "I don't believe I could work in sympathy with those now in charge of the case."

Informed of the court decision, Sigler said only: "That's fine. I hope the attorney general does his duty."

Roth commented "We will go ahead as soon as we can get the records and files and prepare to try the case as soon as possible."

Johnston, a former state senator who headed a legislative committee investigation of Sigler as special grand jury prosecutor in Ingham county, was accused of accepting a bribe from a slot machine operator while he was Macomb county prosecutor.

Roth had objected to Sigler's entrance into the case, asserting it would lead to a "carnival atmosphere" and that Sigler had

Coal Carrier Stuck In Saginaw Bay Mud

Bay City, Mich., Dec. 8. (AP)—The George F. Rand, carrying a cargo of 8,000 tons of coal, got stuck in the ice and mud in the channel of Saginaw Bay today.

The Coast Guard at Detroit was asked to send an ice cutter here to help free the 538-foot long ship. A ship also was being sent from this port to take off some of the cargo. Ice was forming about the ship and it was feared the hull would be damaged.

The freighter started into the channel at 7 a. m. and became fast in the ice. It freed itself immediately ran into mud banks three miles out.

Frank Lagina Drowns In Bay

Falls Trough Ice Near Kipling

Frank Lagina, 68, of Kipling, drowned yesterday afternoon in Little Bay de Noc when dangerously thin ice broke beneath him while he was about 200 feet from the Kipling shore.

Gladstone firemen recovered his body at 3:40 p. m., yesterday from nine and one-half feet of water.

Lagina was either leaving the ice or going out to his fishing shanty when the accident occurred. Walfrid Lindberg, owner and operator of the Lindberg cabins on the shore at Kipling, saw Lagina fall through the ice about 2:30 o'clock.

Rescue Effort Fails

Lindberg made an unsuccessful attempt to rescue Lagina, but went through the thin ice himself. Getting out of the water by his own efforts, Lindberg returned to shore and summoned help.

Gladstone Fire Chief Carl Johnson and Fireman Joe Moreau broke a channel through the ice and pushed a row boat out to the spot where Lagina had gone down. Lagina's sled on which he carried his fishing equipment was still on the ice to mark the place.

Using pike poles the firemen recovered the body from water nine and one-half feet deep. They reported that a hole in the ice farther out indicated that Lagina may have gone through once before and managed to get back on the ice, which measured up to one and one-half inches thick.

The action of currents may have weakened the ice near the shore, the officers said.

Funeral Saturday — Mr. Lagina was born Oct. 4, 1881, in Jugoslavia. He has resided at Kipling for the past 29 years, and before his retirement was employed by the old Cooperage and Lumber company.

He was a member of the Croatian Fraternal Union, Sacred Heart Lodge 355.

Surviving besides his widow are two daughters, Mrs. Antony (Fannie) Vardigan and Mrs. Steve (Antonia) Sabor of Escanaba; one son, Joseph, at home; and five grandchildren. Several brothers and sisters reside in Jugoslavia.

The body was taken to the Skradski funeral home in Gladstone where friends may call Friday morning. The rosary will be recited there at 8 p. m., Friday.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m., Saturday in All Saints church with the Rev. Fr. Matt La-Violette officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood cemetery.

Buchman Talks On Lumbering

Iron Mt. Man Tells About Honduras

Iron Mountain, Mich.—“Due to the demand of the American public for genuine Honduras mahogany, and its refusal to accept substitutes, the business of logging and producing mahogany in Central America continues in spite of relatively great handicaps,” Robert Buchman, son of A. G. Buchman and who spent a year and a half with the R. S. Bacon Veneer company, Chicago, in Honduras, told members of Rotary at a luncheon meeting in the Dickinson hotel.

“Although some of us picture the production of mahogany as a glamorous business, actually there is very little glamor connected with it,” he continued. “In fact there are many handicaps, including political interference, difficult logging conditions, heavy rainfall, an inferior quality of labor, excessive costs and a badly fluctuating market.”

“It is the general misconception that the product known as Honduras mahogany is produced only in Honduras, but it was first produced in quantity in British Honduras, also known as Belize. Due to the exhaustion of resources in Belize, and the imposition of prohibitive duties and other unfavorable working conditions in Mexico, “the bulk of the mahogany produced in the western hemisphere comes from Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua. However, the best remaining stands of timber are in the Yucatan district of Mexico and it is anticipated that ultimately the major portion of production will come from that area.”

“There is little glamor or romance in mahogany business as it exists today,” Buchman said, “since it is a highly competitive ‘dog-eat-dog’ struggle, completely devoid of any semblance of business ethics as we know them in this country. It is a constant struggle between the competing companies to gain control of a small pool of desirable labor and cutting areas.”

“When a U. S. corporation desires to obtain a supply of mahogany it acquires the services of highly trained men to do the contracting. The contractor is then advanced supplies money and equipment with which to begin production.”

“The timber supplies are practically all government-owned. The contractors are granted permits allowing them to cut a given number of trees from a specified area, in return for which the government is reimbursed by payment of stumpage duties and export duties for the volume of logs that is actually produced.”

Police Start Judo Training

Safety Director To Conduct Class

Safety Director Jack Koernke will begin instruction for local policemen tonight in a judo class at the North Escanaba fire station. The training is part of the weekly police school that was started several weeks ago.

The judo training will help police officers in physical combat and to control rebellious prisoners, Koernke said.

The police classes have been held each Wednesday evening in the past but have been shifted to Thursday nights, beginning this week. The school covers a wide range of subjects of interest to law enforcement.

Wild Fur Prices Not Attractive

Fewer Trappers Go Out To Traps

Madison, Wis.—While prices of wild furs are slightly stronger this fall, the trend is not strong enough for any grand rush to the woods and marshes by Wisconsin's native trappers.

The most encouraging signs in the wild fur market today are in mink, according to William Field, state conservation department fur supervisor. Style changes among women have had something to do with the greater demand for wild mink, Field believes.

Muskrat prices paid during the short recent season are weak, however. Prices vary between a dollar and $1.25 in most localities, which compared with prices of around $2.50 during the war-time boom.

The poor market for many species of wild trapped furs, a bulletin of the conservation department observes currently, is a handicap for wildlife managers in managing the wild animal population. Even with long open seasons, it is difficult to trap a desirable number of such animals as skunk and fox, it was pointed out.

The department quotes a recent statement from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service that the fur market is strengthening this year in a few categories, but that "the fur trade in the United States is still in a very unhealthy position."

The federal officials attributed the low price trends to large surpluses of raw furs in storage, and the large importation of furs from abroad.

"Before any great relief can come to the trappers, the consumption of furs in the United States will have to increase greatly," the federal department analysis said.

National All-Star Bowling Tourney Is Now In Finals

Chicago, Dec. 8 (P)—Sixteen of the nation's foremost tenpin stars will begin firing today in the finals of the Ninth National All-Star bowling tournament. A round robin series will continue through Sunday night when the title and the $2,000 first place award will be decided.

Leading the 14 qualifying bowlers into the finals last night was Chet Bukowski, 34 year old unemployed sporting goods salesman of Detroit. Bukowski finished with a 26-game score of 7,401. Bukowski, released this season by the Eckhardt and Becklers, national five-man champions, beat out an old teammate, Charles (Chuck) O'Donnell, who placed second with 7,384.

Detroit topped the field with six finalists, while Chicago qualified three. Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis., defending champion, and Andy Varipapa, of Hempstead, N. Y., 1948 runner-up, were seeded into the finals. However, they rolled along with the field for a $750 side purse. Varipapa winning by 7,350 to 7,220.

The 16 in the finals will bowl four four-game matches daily through Sunday, finishing with a position round. The 14 who survived a gruelling 26-game preliminary test were tops among the 46 semifinalists, all that remained of the starting field of 166 of the country's top keglers.

The 14 joining Varipapa, Schwoegler, Bukowski and O'Donnell and their scores: Tony Sparando, Woodside, N. Y., 7,340; Junie McMahon, Chicago, 7,326; Fred Bujack, Detroit, 7,325; William Lillard, Dallas, Tex., 7,321; Pete Carter, Detroit, 7,290; Joe Norris, Chicago, 7,278; Buddy Bomar, Chicago, a former champion, 7,235; Ralph Smith, Los Angeles, 7,224; Charles Johnson, Bayonne, N. J., 7,215; Ed Easter, Detroit, 7,204; Rudy Pugl, Milwaukee, 7,196; and Lee Jougard, Detroit, 7,195.

Civic Theatre Show Pleases Many Here

Approximately 600 persons attended the free, three-part Christmas show presented by the Escanaba Civic Theatre in William W. Oliver auditorium last night.

Mrs. Fred Swank opened the show, following a medley of Christmas music played by the high school string ensemble. She gave a humorous reading of the dramatic monologue, "Your Christmas Eve and Mine." The selection parodied the traditional "Twas the Night Before Christmas, and all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse."

A variety of Christmas music was offered by the St. Cecilia Chorus under direction of Father Louis Cappel. Their performances included "Birthdays of a King," and Jesu Bambino with Frank Hirm as soloist, Fred Waring's arrangement of "Twas the Night Before Christmas," "Silent Night" with Claire Ferton singing the obligate, and "O Holy Night" with Lou Ann Tousignant as soloist.

"A Sign Unto You," a Christmas play directed by Mrs. Karl E. Gray comprised the last portion of the program. The audience liked the Christmas play, and were appreciative of the fine work by the actors. Harold Snyder played the lead role of Preacher Holloway; Dr. Gardner Eversole and Miss Helen Masterson carried the roles of his parents; Mrs. Peter Molina and Jane Holderman played the roles of the two daughters, and Ricky Olson was the newsboy who faints on the Holloway's doorstep on Christmas Eve.

The theme of the play concerned a wealthy New York family, cold and interested in Wall Street solely their realization of common humanity, through aiding the boy and their son in his work with the poor, made inspiring drama.

Howard Eldred was stage manager. Vernon Ihlenfeldt handled lighting, special effects were by Dick Oslund, and make-up was by Mrs. A. M. Gilbert and Miss Jessie Wick.

Young Indian Drags Men Behind Horses; Pair Badly Battered

Gallup, N. M., Dec. 8 (P)—A young Indian was accused yesterday of trussing and dragging two fellow tribesmen behind a team of horses until "they could hardly be recognized as human beings."

Sheriff D. F. Mollica said Dan Hill, 60, and his son, Roy, 30, were dragged more than a mile over rock formations and underbrush.

Raymond Warner, was charged with assault with intent to kill. A fourth Indian involved in the case is being sought. All are Navajos.

Mollica described the victim's condition this way: "There was hardly a shred of skin left on their backs. Their ears had been flattened, their arms and faces blackened and cut terribly."

The elder Hill told officers only that the attack was out of revenge. He did not elaborate.

Red Prime Minister III In East Germany

Berlin, Dec. 8 (P)—Otto Grotewohl, prime minister of the Communist East German government, has been stricken with a serious illness, it was learned officially today.

The information office of Grotewohl's government confirmed the report that the prime minister was in a hospital. "A statement may be made later about the prime minister's illness," a spokesman said.

The nature of the illness was not described. West German sources said Grotewohl has had a nervous breakdown and is confined to a Russian army hospital on the outskirts of Berlin.

Russian guards surround Grotewohl's quarters, the British-licensed newspaper telegraph reported.

Wildlife Conference At Madison To Take Up Lamprey Problem

Lansing, Dec. 8 (P)—Sea lamprey and lake trout problems will be discussed at the annual Midwest Wildlife Conference at Madison, Wis., Dec. 15 to 17.

Some 300 fish and game workers from the states of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri will pool information and attempt to come up with plans of attack on their mutual problems.

They plan experiments to test the various methods suggested for control of the blood-sucking sea lamprey that has reduced the trout population on Lakes Huron and Michigan.

A discussion also is expected on the value of a lake trout planting program to replenish depleted Great Lakes stock.

Wildlife problems to be discussed will include such topics as habitat development, pheasant survey techniques, federal aid in wildlife restoration, waterfowl population trends and deer herd management.

Heavy Rains Leave Trail Of Damage In Latin America

Caracas, Venezuela, Dec. 8 (P)—Central and South American countries mobilized today for relief work in the wake of heavy rains that brought major damage to at least three countries.

The hardest hit appeared to be Venezuela, Costa Rica and Trinidad.

Two helicopters were sent to aid in rescue work in Venezuela's Barlovento coffee belt. A 30-hour downpour there left some 20,000 persons homeless, caused two casualties and did crop and property damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

More than eight persons were reported dead or missing at Plantain, in northeast Costa Rica. From central Trinidad came a report that the Caroni river, overflowing after a four-day downpour, had made 300 villagers homeless.

grudge against Johnston which should not be paid off in court.

Prosecutor Reluctant

The supreme court appeared to criticize the promiscuous appointment of special prosecutors in major criminal cases.

It said a lower court had a right to appoint a special prosecutor if the elected prosecutor of the county was unable to serve.

The records in the Roth-Sigler-Johnston case, the court said, "require the conclusion that the prosecutor (Fred Nicholson) was not unable to attend to his duties but was merely reluctant to perform his duties. The statute does not contemplate such a situation."

"Even though of relatively limited experience, a prosecutor cannot abdicate his duties," the supreme court said. "Nor does the availability of more experienced and willing lawyers permit the court to relax the statutory conditions prerequisite to such an appointment. In the absence of the statutory contingencies the appointment of special prosecutors must be set aside."

Sigler had been appointed special prosecutor in trials in Ingham, Calhoun, Jackson and Oakland counties growing out of various grand jury investigations.

Big Coal Mines Resist Lewis

Few Small Producers Sign New Contracts

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, Dec. 8 (P)—With mines producing 7,340,000 tons of coal a year under contract, John L. Lewis awaited fresh signers today as most of his miners took their first day off under the new three-day work week.

The United Mine Workers' leader is trying to use the short work period as a lever against operators still holding fast against his contract demands.

The small soft coal companies in the midwest and south which have accepted his terms since Tuesday have returned to a full five-day week, and Lewis said yesterday that "additional tonnage will sign."

But major coal operators, producing nearly all the 550,000,000 tons mined in a year, still held fast. Lewis would have to crack their solid front before he could claim any important, major gain in the month's-old dispute.

Lewis and his UMW policy committee decided a week ago on the limited work week in preference to a full-fledged strike. This gave Lewis time to try to make the hard and soft coal operators yield to his new contract terms. The old contracts expired last July.

The mines are now operating only on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. During the rest of the week Lewis is allowing only the "irreducible minimum" of main-

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Dec. 8 (P)—R. W. Cook, manager of Oak Ridge operations for the atomic energy commission, said today a four-day wildcat strike of construction workers on this giant atomic project site has ended.

"It looks like a wholesale back-to-work movement this morning," Cook said.

Educator Predicts 6-Year High Schools

DR. GUY HILL, Michigan State college professor of education, believes that six-year high schools are closer to realization than most people believe. Dr. Hill declared at a meeting of school administrators in Lansing that thirteenth and fourteenth grades in public schools are not simply "an educator's pipe-dream."

The reasons for Dr. Hill's viewpoint are readily apparent. There simply are not enough institutions of higher learning to accommodate the increased number of youngsters who seek formal knowledge beyond the present high school level. Further, modern emphasis upon labor skills require greater training than can now be obtained in the four-year high school curriculum.

Many cities have already established so-called junior colleges to help meet advanced educational requirements. Such a program is proposed for Escanaba, stimulated by the bequests of the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas.

The problem of financing six-year high schools throughout the country is a tremendous one, of course, and will certainly require a new approach to the educational financing program. But it is inevitable that some day—and perhaps as Dr. Hill suggests, sooner than most people think—six year high schools will become standard in this country. Specialization of virtually every occupation requires it.

Door To Door Sales By Children Opposed

AT the suggestion of Rt. Rev. Carroll Deady, superintendent of schools of the Detroit diocese, the Detroit police department has invoked a tight ban on door to door sales of Christmas articles by children. The action was taken because of the danger of sex crimes.

Rev. Deady requested Police Commissioner Toy to conduct an intensive campaign of discouragement of such sales by children. Complying with the request the police have asked Detroit residents not to buy articles from children and to call police when children are seen attempting door to door sales. In such cases the children will be taken home and their parents warned of the dangers involved.

Enforcement is based upon a city ordinance requiring persons selling on the streets to obtain a city license.

Even though it may deprive children of an opportunity to earn some spending money for Christmas, the action of the Detroit police is a sensible approach to the sex crime problem.

Even if such drastic steps are not taken in smaller communities, like Escanaba, to circumvent sex crimes, it certainly would be advisable for parents to discourage their children from door to door calls. In any case, the child should be warned not to accept an invitation to enter the house.

China Lacks Will To Fight

THE fall of Chungking was more than just another defeat in the unbroken series of reverses that began for the Chinese Nationalists in Manchuria last year. Its loss meant the toppling of the capital that above all symbolized Chinese resistance of Japanese invasion in World War II. In other words, the Chinese Communists have achieved what the Japs never did. Whether the Japs might have captured Chungking had they not become pre-occupied in other theaters of battle is something we can never know. But the fact is they didn't get it.

Americans watching the Chinese phase of World War II marveled that Chungking, deep in the interior, could serve effectively as a rallying point for the beleaguered Chinese forces. But the city seemed a stout bastion that held the nation together. That it now has passed into Communist hands so easily is an event that to most of us must appear to put the final seal on the Nationalists' crushing failure.

Throughout the steady onrush of Red forces in China the firm friends of the Nationalist government have insisted that there was still hope. They have told us the Communists could be contained short of complete victory, that they could be repelled from important areas of the country.

In their minds has been the idea that the westernmost sectors of China would be the locale for this resistance. Mountains and deserts and impassable roads were factors they counted on to bar the Reds' path to this territory. And, of course, Chungking, in the heart of this "inaccessible" land, would as in World War II be the focus of Nationalist strength. So has gone the argument.

Whoever may have been impressed by such nations, it is clear the Chinese Communists were not among them. They have surged past the insurmountable barriers and marched into the city that was to lead the brave fight.

With Chungking's fall it becomes thoroughly evident that the real will to resist has long since disappeared in Nationalist quarters. Many observers have been saying this was so, but the outspoken friends of non-Communist China insisted otherwise.

$280 A Month For Disloyal Congressman

FORMER Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky who is now serving a prison sentence for war frauds will receive a monthly government pension of $280 all the time that he is in prison and for the rest of his life when he gets out. The former congressman will draw his pension check despite the fact that he was convicted of feloniously violating his congressional oath.

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, awaiting sentence on a fraud charge, won't fare quite so well as Ex-Rep. May, but only because he is younger and must wait eight years to become eligible to draw a pension.

May was defeated for reelection in 1946, but he made a lump sum payment of $2,716 to qualify for pension rights. He has been drawing his $280 a month pension since early in 1947 and will continue to receive it, even though convicted of a felony.

There is a lot of irony in a situation whereby the taxpayers of this country are required to pay $280 a month pension to a man who thought so little of his congressional responsibilities that he was willing to cheat for personal gain.

Rep. Thomas has paid approximately $6,000 into the pension fund and he will receive $290 per month when he reaches the age of 62. His payments to the pension fund will cease, of course, when he leaves congress.

The May and Thomas cases point the way to revision of the congressional pension law. Disloyal congressmen, men who hold their patriotism in such low esteem that they are willing to sell it for personal gain, certainly should not be entitled to further remuneration from the government that they cheated.

STRAITS BRIDGE ACTION NOW

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

The time was never more ripe than now for concerted action on construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac.

Recent developments show that a bridge can be built; there is statewide interest in such a project; it is necessary; and there is a definite means of financing such a structure.

Gov. Williams, in an address last week to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, voiced his support for a Straits bridge.

The Inter - Peninsula Communications Commission, which has recommended use of the St. Ignace causeway as a means of temporarily relieving the Straits traffic jam, is known to lean toward a bridge. We do know that a conclusive study of the bridge by this group is on the agenda as soon as Straits traffic relief is in sight.

Rep. Charles Potter has learned that a bridge project can be financed through revenue bonds which could be purchased by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. A dispatch in Sunday's newspapers discloses that Henry Kaiser has built his vast industrial empire on loans from the RFC totaling $186,500,000. Surely if one man can borrow that much from Uncle Sam, the people of the commonwealth of Michigan who need a bridge to unite them, should be a sufficient credit risk to borrow an amount currently estimated at $100,000,000. We consider it a good risk, because we believe the volume of traffic across the Straits will mount to the point that such an obligation could be repaid within a comparatively few years.

Our suggestion is that the governor and the legislature revitalize the now dead Straits of Mackinac Bridge Authority, staff it with men recognized as being competent, regardless of political faith, and empower them to engineer, finance and construct a bridge in the quickest possible time.

THE AMERICAN VOTER WINS

(Milwaukee Journal)

The New York elections recently pretty much overshadowed some very real accomplishments of the American voter in the November balloting. He elected Herbert H. Lehman for United States senator and William O'Dwyer for mayor in New York. Both had able and capable opponents.

It was in other elections, however, that the voter had a real chance to strike a blow for good government, and he proved that he was a pretty sound fellow.

He beat Democratic "bossism" in Boston and Republican "bossism" in Philadelphia. He beat potential CIO "bossism" in Detroit. He kept a good Republican governor in New Jersey in the face of a terrific campaign for a comeback by the Hague machine. He beat Ben Davis, one of the convicted Communist leaders, for re-election to a New York city council post. He showed little interest in Vito Marcantonio, fiery, Red dominated Wallace facing leader, as a candidate for mayor of New York. He turned out Democratic and Republican machines, indiscriminately, in several New York cities.

The trend watchers can project election day results into predictions of things to come. The Democrats can claim great victories. The Republicans can pooh-pooh for the next year. But nothing is so certain in the Nov. 8 elections as this:

The real winner was the boss of them all—the American voter.

THAT WORD "PRESENTLY"

SHALL WE STAMP IT OUT?

This letter is typical of many that reach this column every week: "It irritates me whenever I see the word 'presently' misused in the meaning of 'now'; at the present time.' Why don't you rally your readers in a campaign to stamp it out?"

According to my notes, use of "present" in the meaning of "now; at the present time" was revived during the late war. I

Congestion Is Big City Woe

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Some of our scientists have been telling us for a long time that the country's biggest cities were getting too thickly settled. They have been saying that sooner or later the drawbacks of bigness would start to outweigh the advantages.

Today signs are multiplying that a few of our great centers may already be beyond the size best calculated to serve their citizen well.

A prime point made by students of city growth like Lewis Mumford is that congestion tends to breed congestion. Mumford argues that many of the things cities do to relieve overcrowdedness actually serve in the end to intensify it.

Highway and other transportation improvements are examples. Super-thoroughfares are designed to break traffic bottlenecks in and around urban focal points. Too often, even with no important increase in population or in number of automobiles, the new roadway becomes as clogged as were the old routes. It has attracted traffic that previously went elsewhere.

The same thing can happen on rapid transit systems. A city builds more subway lines to ease the pain of rush-hour travel to and from downtown. In no time at all, traffic has built up beyond capacity again.

New York City tears out an ugly slum and erects handsome elevator apartments, well-spaced for light and air and set in an area of green lawns and shrubs. There is great pride in this achievement, until it is realized that there are now far more people in the re-built zone than ever before. Thousands of work-bound folk pour out of the buildings every morning and try to cram themselves into overloaded buses.

The worst aspect of the problem, according to Mumford, is that once a city becomes congested every move it makes to relieve the condition is tremendously costly. Subways cost more than widened street. Superhighways cost more than normal routes. Existing buildings and streets have to be torn down and expensive property acquired.

As population mounts, the cost of providing regular city services such as water, gas, sewage disposal and power goes up faster than the rise in numbers. Huge pipelines and storage facilities must be constructed at heavy expense to bring water into every home. Gas and oil are drawn from fields sometimes 2000 miles away.

New York City's current water shortage is one of the signs dramatizing the problem. The city's development of new facilities left behind population growth and it may not catch up for several years.

Another critical fact: the congestion drives people into outlying areas for quiet, fresh air, light and space. They departure speeds the decay of the older city center, which inevitably yields less and less property tax revenue. The city tries to compensate by upping taxes, which only tends to drive more people away. The same thing occurs in industry. Most new factories today are in city suburbs or rural areas nearby.

So the great city finds itself confronting a weird dilemma. It needs more and more money to meet its colossal cost of dealing with congestion. But that very congestion has produced a fanning out of people and industry that makes it increasingly difficult to get even normal revenues, let alone greater amounts.

And somehow the flight to the suburbs never goes far enough to produce a real break-up of the great urban concentrations. Millions stay close in and other millions pour in at intervals to enjoy theaters, stores and other attractions.

As if all this woe were not sufficient, the Atomic Energy Commission now warns that great havoc would result in Washington, New York, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Chicago should an atom bomb be dropped on any of these thick concentrations.

But the final twist is that: the cost of dispersing these centers obviously would be even greater than the expense of keeping them going as they now are.

say "revived" for the reason that "presently" had that meaning a long time ago; and then it became obsolete except in dialectal usage.

To most people, "presently" means "soon; in a little while." Therefore, it is disturbing to read that President Truman is presently doing this, or that Congress is presently not in session, or that Russia is presently making atom bombs.

Nevertheless, the word "presently" in that meaning is frequently seen, and two new dictionaries have sanctioned it—Funk and Wagnalls New College Standard (1947) and Webster's New Collegiate (1949).

I have pointed out many times before in this space that dictionaries do not make correctness—they report it, more or less accurately. Funk and Wagnalls and Webster's apparently now believe that "presently," in the meaning of "now; at the present time," is good usage.

But my own opinion, for whatever it may be worth, is that any word, usage, or pronunciation that acts as a spotlight is to be avoided, no matter how many dictionaries sanction it.

From numerous comments in my mail it is plain that "presently," in the meaning of "now; at the present time," is disturbing, if not irritating, to most readers. It is, therefore, a bad word, and I should not so use it.

Here's a parallel case: Most dictionaries pronounce the name Susan as "SYOO-z'n" (my phonetics). But people do not say "SYOO-z'n." The universal American pronunciation is: SOO-z'n. Therefore, "SYOO-z'n" is a bad pronunciation—an extremely serious spotlight.

And whenever that certain radio producer says "SYOO-z'n" (he actually pronounces it "see-OO-z'n"), he sounds pompous and affected, although I have been told by those who know him that he really isn't.

But one wonders why he believes he is using a hot-diggity-dog pronunciation when he says "see-OO-z'n" for the simple, unpretentious name Susan.

Every Day Is Christmas

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

HITCH HIKERS—Many flowers and plants have hitch hiked their way around the world, and North America itself is now blessed (or cursed) with many importations—including noxious weeds from the Old Country.

Observing persons undoubtedly have noted that many plants once considered "domestic" can now be classified as wild. For they have spread from the confines of the garden into the countryside. Among these is the ubiquitous "Bouncing Bet" that will be found spreading across the fields in the vicinity of old cemeteries or early-day habitations. It goes bouncing merrily along, surviving those who first planted and cared for it tenderly, thinking it might not survive a cold Northern Michigan winter.

OVER THE WAVES—Originally, many of the plants now turned "native" were brought to the United States, thence to Michigan, by early-day colonists. The day lily was once a proud beauty in English gardens. Brought to America by settlers, it spread rapidly as a wild plant over the country. Today it is a common weed along the roadsides in the east and midwest and often occurs in the older settled portions of the Upper Peninsula.

Another importation is the old-fashioned lilac, now common at abandoned homesteads and along fencerows, often giving the impression that it is a native shrub. Once "fame" iris is also found along the roadsides.

FROM OLD FRANCE—In St. Ignace and vicinity there grows today in a wild state a small but fine-flavored plum—the Mackinac plum.

Behind that plum tree is nearly three hundred years of history. Originally the plum stones (or perhaps the seedling trees) were brought to New France by French colonists before 1700. Missionaries may have planted them at St. Ignace as early as 1670.

Today the Mackinac plum grows profusely along old fencerows, roadsides, and in clearings. Seldom more than 15 to 20 feet high, it bears fruit remarkably resistant to the attacks of insects or disease, although the trees are never sprayed or pruned.

Here is, perhaps, an opportunity for horticulturists who seek a foundation stock from which to develop a nearly-native Michigan plum.

OF MANY KINDS—Michigan has some 2,500 kinds of plants, including trees, grasses, crops and weeds, according to Prof. Charles L. Gilly, keeper of Michigan State College herbarium.

This herbarium, incidentally, contains well over 100,000 species of plants. Here can be identified almost any plant known to man. Sometimes Prof. Gilly is called upon to identify those strange to Michigan or previously unreported.

New plants are constantly being transferred into the state by sundry means, in themselves an accurate rundown on transportation progress in the United States.

"The main means of transfer among states used to be the undercarriage of railway cars," Prof. Gilly said. "Now we find most of our transferred plants along roadsides, since the advent of the automobile and interstate trucking."

MORE WILL COME—Many plant transients have come to Michigan to stay and more will arrive in the years to come. The work of Prof. Gilly and others at Michigan State College herbarium will grow as farmers (the principal customers) seek the identity of strange trees, shrubs, flowers, and weeds that suddenly appear in their fields.

Prof. Gilly and his staff aid the police as well as the farmer. In the past several years technicians have dipped into mammoth file cases of mounted plant types to identify samples of marijuana confiscated by police vice squads. About one in 20 samples turns out to be marijuana of the dangerous type.

AND OTHERS GO—As the years pass many of the native Michigan plants, particularly those with a showy flower, are threatened with extinction. So as new plants come to the state to make themselves at home, others that found shelter in deep wilderness may soon be no more than a memory.

One of these in particular is dying out rapidly in Michigan, the college reports.

That is the orchid, which grows wild in Michigan swamps. It is on the decline mainly because of the march of science—and the indefatigable pickers of wild flowers. Many swamps are being drained, destroying the orchid's habitat; remote areas are being populated and thoughtless visitors destroy the bulb when they pluck the orchid's flower.

Straits Bridge

Dear Editor:

State Highway Commissioner Ziegler proposes that the legislature appoint a Mackinac Straits Bridge Authority to make another study of the straits bridge proposal.

Michigan had a bridge authority several years ago. It made a study of the straits situation, but now its findings are disregarded. That apparently was a Democratic bridge authority. Now we'll probably have a Republican bridge authority.

Isn't it possible to study the Straits of Mackinac transportation problem without getting it mixed up in politics? The Upper Peninsula people — Republicans and Democrats alike — are losing out because of the transportation bottleneck at the Straits of Mackinac.

We should have a moratorium on politics as far as the Straits of Mackinac transportation problem is concerned.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—When Sen. Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma wrote a letter to Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson last fall wanting a special air force plane to carry a senate appropriations subcommittee through Europe, someone in Johnson's office at first questioned the expenditure.

This caused the senator from Oklahoma to challenge the use of government airplanes by Secretary Johnson, Vice President Barkley and other brass hats, with the result that Johnson pulled in his horns, and Senator Thomas got the plane—plus six crew members.

Now that Senator Thomas and colleagues have toured Europe—supposedly on official business—it appears that Secretary Johnson's first impulse was right. He should have stuck to his guns.

For the chief results of the Thomas junket are an overdose of hospitality in Spain, and an overdose of hospitality in Sweden—thereby bringing bitter complaints from Senator Thomas—and the general impression left upon Europe that U. S. senators are ignoramuses.

To illustrate why Europeans got this impression, here is an interview published by the highly reliable Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune:

"We saw the French defense minister today," Senator Thomas told the press, to illustrate the fact that his committee was in Europe to see how the American taxpayers' money was being spent. "He showed us the rooms Napoleon's mother lived in. Think of that! Man's name was Bidault or something. You can find out who he is—tall, slim fellow."

In other words, the chairman of the senate committee did not know the name of the French defense minister, who is not Georges Bidault, but Rene Pleven. M. Bidault is the premier.

PARIS NIGHT CLUBS—"GOOD!"

Thomas went on to tell the press about the Paris night clubs and theatres his committee had visited and named with approval the Lido, Bal Tabarin and Folies Bergere. "Good shows," he commented.

"I'm chairman of the committee," he explained when newsmen admired his suite at the Ritz. "I always get the best rooms."

Thomas went on to say that his committee liked Paris. "We've gotten all our Christmas shopping done," he explained. Contrast 1 — Unlike the senators who toured Europe at government expense, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and wife took off for Europe by slow boat last month, paying their own way. "When my father died," he explained to a friend, "he left Mrs. Humphrey a $500 bond. He said I had never had time to travel — that I worked too hard. And he wanted us to take a honeymoon. So we're using this bond to help pay our expenses. It's the first time I have been to Europe."

Contrast 2 — Unlike certain bibulous senators who guzzled Franco's wine in Spain and then recommended that he get a $100,000,000 loan, Senators Brewster of Maine and Ferguson of Michigan took a quiet, hard-working tour of the world's trouble-spots—completely sober.

BOLIVIA DUCKS
Bolivia is ducking all responsibility for the tragic P126 collision that cost 55 lives over the Washington airport.

The Bolivian government now refuses to pay the balance of $7,500 due on the plane, though before the crash it had insured the P-33 with Lloyds of London.

Bolivia has even stopped $10,000 payment on another plane, a P-47, even though it was already delivered in La Paz. Yet the dealer here, Paul Aubin, can't sue Bolivia unless it waives diplomatic immunity.

Ruark Locates Great Singer

He's Connie Jordan At Frisco Nightclub

By ROBERT C. RUARK
San Francisco—I have been studying modern music lately—modern music being approximately one-half "Mule Train" and the other half Bop—and I may have found an antidote for the whole business.

This antidote would be a young colored gentleman, originally of Los Angeles, whose name is Connie Jordan.

Mr. Jordan is in his late 20's and he looks rather like a sun-burned Sinatra. He is a reformed drummer, and he sings in a little joint called the "Say When" here in town. The

"Say When" finds itself stacked to the eaves each evening when Mr. Jordan begins to roll, and remains stacked until Mr. Jordan goes away.

This is because Mr. Jordan has a voice that combines something of the old-fashioned Georgia camp meeting with a sly sophistication and even a wistful tenderness—Good Gawd, Ruark, lay them adjectives down, boy—which makes him about the parlay in entertainment I have clocked since Crosby had hair.

He Doesn't Croon
When Connie is singing hot he opens up his mouth like a sinner come to mourn and he whacks his hands between phrases and when he rocks on his heels and whacks his hands and opens up his mouth you can see the whole jampacked crowd whack hands and rock on heels and follow him with silent, open mouths.

When Connie renders "Saturday Night Fish Fry" unto his faithful, there is no doubt at all that the young man has a song in his lungs. He does not croon. Connie can stroke a ballad as soft and sexy as Sinatra in his better days and he doesn't have to fake a falsetto. He can turn loose on a ditty with as much or as little noise as the ditty needs and knock the crowd dead with one reaction—namely, that a pleasant looking brown youngster named Jordan has just cornered that market on all the rhythm in the world.

On top of that he looks nice. There is a touch of the choir boy about him, and a clean good humor. This is a refreshing change from the nasty-looking men with the berets and the little goatees who holler "oooo" and "eeeee" in lieu of words, and whose whole repertoire seems shanted at the marijuana, or happy-stick, set.

Caught Up On Be-Hop
I am just about caught up on this bebop kick. Paul Weston, a rare band leader who plays soft and pretty, was telling me the other day that bop has become so esoteric that when a player gets up now to take a solo break, all he has to do is stand there for most of his 32 bars and the applause is just as heavy as if he were playing.

This is known as performing to a "cool" audience, a cool audience being one which is so hep that it does not need to hear the music at all, but can imagine what the music would sound like if it were actually being blown out of a horn or thumped from a drum. It is somewhat like paying a singer not to sing or a football player not to run, and may have some advantages, at that. I mean that is the proper place for bop, anyhow—in the heads of its fanciers and not in the public ear drum.

My man Jordan comes from a musical family and hence has

Carriers Of Typhoid Weeded Out Steadily

Lansing, (AP)—There are 254 known carriers of typhoid fever in Michigan, the only remaining principal source of the disease, the state health department reported.

The department said that Michigan has had no new case of typhoid due to a public water supply in 15 years and that there were only 50 cases and four deaths from typhoid in 1948. This compares with 424 cases and 75 deaths in 1931.

A 17-year search for carriers disclosed 533 of them, the department said. Of those remaining, all are under close supervision to prevent infecting others. A new anti-biotic, chloromycetin, offers hope of clearing up typhoid so fast that carriers are no longer created, the department reported.

some respect for sharps and flats. His stuff ends on the beat and he is so old-fashioned he even sings in tune. This is a modern miracle in jazz singing, since most of the ones I hear lately wander around the melody like a drunk in the subway.

Ordinarily I do not make a habit of going about discovering people, since this sometimes earns you a rap on the snout or additional financial obligations, but I break the rule in favor of Mr. Connie Jordan.

If this young gent isn't the latest thing in the vocal business before he's much older I will take up bop myself and try to make it popular with people who speak English.

Pop Sorghum For Movie Fans Next

Lubbock, Tex., (SS)—Popcorn may soon have a rival: pop sorghum which can be chewed noisily, without getting caught in the teeth, is vying to become the number one movie confection.

Although sorghum grains make a smaller puff than popcorn, their thinner hull leaves no husk to lodge between the teeth. Pop sorghum is more tender in consequence and when chewed produces no crackling sounds to detract from the sound track.

Such at least are the claims made for pop sorghum by plant breeders of the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station here who have developed what they think may be some day rival popcorn for the public's favor.

The idea of popping sorghum is not new. At least 50 years ago farm boys were taking the grains of sorghum, raised extensively for cattle fodder, and roasting them over open fires. The Chinese make a confection of sorghum by puffing it with steam, something like puffed rice.

Job Situation Looks Up During November

By Charles Molony
Washington, (AP)—The job situation appeared to be looking up in November—even before the lift that the Christmas sales season usually gives to employment.
New figures from the Census Bureau were welcomed by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer as showing that “the job picture in November was perhaps more favorable than at any previous time this year.”

The figures, released by Sawyer Monday, showed in brief:
60,954,000 Americans, counting 1,436,000 in the armed forces, had jobs good for one hour a week or more in November, even if some of them weren’t actually working because of illness, strikes, vacations, etc.
The 59,518,000 civilian jobs in November represented a gain of 517,000 over October, although the total was 375,000 below November, 1948, when the boom was at its peak.
Furthermore, non-farm employment, up 350,000 in November to a 51,840,000 total, was “back to the 1949 high recorded in the late summer months,” the Census Bureau said. It added that November “recovered the losses” caused by the October steel and coal strikes.

Unemployment dropped 167,000 in November to a total of 3,409,000, although it was fairly near double the 1,831,000 total of boomtime November, 1948.
The reason that the expanding job opportunities didn’t put a much heavier crimp in unemployment, said the bureau, was that people turning out to hunt seasonal work swelled the figures for joblessness.

The farm picture gave an unusual boost to the November employment total by showing a 168,000 climb in November, usually a month when farm work is declining.

The cause: Good weather in many areas permitted completion of harvesting operations which had been delayed in October by heavy rains.
On the general scene, not every jobholder who wanted to work full-time—35 hours or more weekly, as the bureau reckons it—was able to get on the payroll for that long.

The bureau estimated that 1,000,000 persons with part-time jobs would have preferred and “could have accepted” full-time employment in November.

Also, it said, about 1,500,000 persons with full-time jobs were forced on part time because of “slack work, material shortages, job turnover and similar factors.”
The bureau’s figures, always gathered in the early parts of each month, were taken by a sampling process the week of November 6-12.

Judge Declares Layoff No Bar In Vacation Pay

Owosso, Michigan (AP)—A circuit judge has ruled that a laid-off worker may draw vacation pay from his employer as well as state unemployment compensation.
The ruling, awaited with much interest in Michigan, was handed down Tuesday by Judge William L. Lyons of Shiawassee county.

Of concern to both labor and management, the verdict likely will be carried to the state supreme court.

Judge Lyons acted in an appeal from the Renown Stove Co. of Owosso from a ruling of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

The state agency had upheld the right of 22 Renown employees to draw the MUCC benefits and their vacation pay simultaneously.

In April 1948 the 22 workers were laid off indefinitely.

Under their union contract their vacation pay—of 40 to 80 hours, depending on length of service, was to have started June 28.

The company attempted to halt jobless payments during this period, but the MUCC disagreed.

“Any individual who is laid off indefinitely shall not be considered on vacation. And payment to such workers by their employer during that time shall not be a disqualifying payment.”

Judge Lyons held that the MUCC had given the proper verdict.

Erect Many New Buildings Here

51 New Houses, 4 Plants Recorded

Construction of 51 houses, a new dry cleaning plant, a medical center and a new dairy plant was begun in Escanaba during the current year.

The new plant being built by the Lled Sanitary Milk company of Escanaba and Gladstone on Ludington street to replace the present Lled plant on South 16th street, is the latest non-residential project.

Construction of the modern dairy processing plant, begun three months ago, has been delayed 40 days by the steel strike. It is expected that it will be ready by the end of January. Erling Arntzen is the contractor for the owners, Walter Lied and William Savageau.

The 100 by 60 foot fireproof brick and concrete block building will house individual units for sales rooms, pasteurization, receiving, washing, cooling and homogenizing. Large built-in coolers will be installed and the plant will be heated with an oil-fired 50 hp boiler. All workrooms will be air-conditioned, and will be visible to the public from large windows across the front.

Harnischfeger Delayed
When completed, the dairy plant will meet Federal Grade A requirements. Lied and Savageau have operated the Lled milk plant since 1911 and now employ 11 persons. All milk is processed in Escanaba. Delivery is made from units in both cities. The plant produces milk, cream, cottage cheese and buttermilk. Some equipment will be moved from the 16th street plant when the new one is ready, and additional, modern equipment will be installed.

Footings for the 50 by 320 foot brick and concrete addition to the Harnischfeger corporation truck crane plant on the Danforth road are in, but other construction has been delayed by a steel shortage. Baxter Mitchell reported yesterday that the addition, to be used for a machine shop and steel plate application bay, would probably be ready by late spring. The addition, to provide 16,000 square feet, will cost $120,000.

A new dry cleaning plant, a 22 by 60 foot, concrete and brick building at 2201 Ludington street, was built this year by H. E. Flath and was completed in June. The plant is now being used by Jack Glidden. Flath is also erecting a medical building, in the 1200 of Ludington street. The 30 by 160 foot brick building is expected to be completed for the first of January. Construction was begun on this one-story building Oct. 1.

The majority of new houses have been completed or will be before year's end. In 1948 Escanabans built 50 new houses. The total for 1947 was 97 and the year previous, 76. Many of the homes built this year are in the upper price bracket, from $15,000 to $20,000.

Among the new houses built or under construction are the Wellington Minze home at 379 South 17th street; the Jule DeGrand home at 1525 North 18th street and 1330 North 16th street; the Charles Magnuson home on Lake Shore drive; the Leo J. Basements for dwellings were started by several, including William Geniesse, at 1218 North 16th street, and Donald Cousineau at 812 North 20th street.

Two of the more important building additions this year were the dining room and hotel rooms to the Skradski hotel at 1431 Sheridan road and the Knights of Columbus addition to their club-rooms.

Among the animals which have been domesticated since before recorded history are the dog, ox, sheep, goat, horse, humped cattle, elephant, cat, goose, honeybee and ass.

San Pedro, Calif. (AP)—With bruised jaw and ruffled temper, Mrs. Helen Carille—a woman driver—ran into the police station and sputtered this story: As she pulled up at an intersection a car roared through a stop sign, missing her auto by inches.

"Can't you read?" she screamed. At that, the car skidded to a halt. A man popped out, walked over to Mrs. Carille and without a word clipped her on the jaw.

Major Jordan Publicity Man

Once Was Friendly
With Russians

By DREW PEARSON

Most interesting fact in the army record of the mysterious Maj. George Racey Jordan, who now claims uranium secrets were shipped to Russia during the war, is that it was the Russian commander who urged Jordan's promotion.

Two letters are in the army files from Col. Anatole Kotikov, commanding officer of the Russian lend-lease staff at Great Falls, Mont., praising Jordan and asking that he be promoted from the rank of captain to major. And when the gold-leaf cluster of major was finally given to Jordan, it was pinned on by no less than Kotikov himself.

All the official records on Major Jordan's background so far scrutinized indicate that he was on the friendly terms with the Russians and at one time complained because Russian officials were being held up too long on the border by customs and immigration regulations.

In March, 1944, Jordan reported that he was confused as to the scope of his duties regarding shipment of mail and cargo passing through Great Falls for Russia. He asked whether he should inspect it and especially wanted to know whether it had diplomatic immunity.

The only report the army has that he might have been suspicious of Russian shipments was at this time, when Jordan said he thought the volume was unusually large but said the bulk of it was mail. He told a counterintelligence agent at the time that he had had no experience with diplomatic mail and was unable to know how to handle it.

Jordan pointed out, however, that the bulk of the mail was chiefly American newspapers and periodicals. The only government reports he mentioned were not regarding uranium, but regarding U. S. shipping rates and methods of loading cattle and horses. The Russians had picked up a department of agriculture bulletin on loading livestock into freight cars.

At no time did Major Jordan make any reference to Harry Hopkins, Henry Wallace, uranium, bomb powder, or secret documents. He gave no indication he had broken into any pouches, crates, or suitcases. He did comment that Russian packages were well-guarded around the clock. The whole tenor of Jordan's report and his conduct at Great Falls was friendly to the Russians and army files indicate that after he left the service he made a speech before a civil club in New York praising "our gallant allies," the Russians. Jordan is no amateur at peddling stories to the newspapers. In fact, he has spent most of his life in the public relations field. From 1919 to 1933, he was an advertising representative for McGraw-Hill. During the 'thirties, he worked as a public relations expert for various brewing companies, including Schaeffers, 1933-34, for the brewing corporation of America, 1934-35, and for Ruppert, 1938-39. Between breweries, 1935-37, he did odd jobs as a free-lance public relations man in New York City. The last job he held before going into the army was as publicity man for the Luckenbach Steamship company in Bremerton, Wash.

It is interesting to note that Jordan was not concerned enough about his story to report it to the FBI. On the contrary, the FBI came to him, after he had tried to give the story to Time magazine and a representative of Walter Winchell. Time magazine incidentally rejected his story after examining his diary.

After his discharge from the air force, Jordan stayed around Washington as an expediter, otherwise known as a five percent. That's how he eased in to his present job. (Copyright, 1949, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Straits Bridge Committee Is Organized In Detroit

A citizen's committee set out yesterday in Detroit to revive interest in the long-proposed bridge across the Straits of Mackinac, the Associated Press reports.

W. S. Woodfill, operator of Grand hotel, world's largest summer hotel on Mackinac Island, has been appointed chairman. Woodfill announced that the committee's immediate objective is to get the legislature to re-establish the Mackinac Bridge Authority. The authority went out of existence in 1946 after functioning for 12 years.

Woodfill said subscriptions of $10 would be collected from persons interested in promoting the committee's work.

He estimated the four-mile bridge from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace, providing a direct link between the upper and lower peninsulas, would cost $50,000,000.

It would be financed, he said, by federal funds and a state bond issue.

The present and projected traffic demand it, he said. At present, state-operated ferries transport automobiles across the straits.

Woodfill said the citizens' committee was nonpartisan and would remain so.

It will wage a pamphlet campaign so that voters will put pressure on legislators for action.

Members of the committee, in addition to Woodfill, are George Osborn, publisher of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News; Bruce Anderson, Lansing hotelman; W. L. Burns, of Ironwood; Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of Michigan Tech at Houghton; R. H. Fletcher, Jr., Bay City oil dealer; J. Edward Frawley, Detroit hotelman; Lee Wilson Hutchins, chairman of the Michigan Tourist Council, Grand Rapids; George Pickell, of St. Joseph, and Ralph Thomas, of Detroit.

Get All the Facts
The purpose of the new bridge authority, the committee announced, would be to "get all the facts" about the span and, with the legislature's approval, get the project underway.

W. S. WOODFILL

"Now is the time when a new bridge authority should be created," Woodfill said, "and further efforts made to build the bridge. Present and projected traffic demand it. Good business sense clearly calls for it."

He said a four-mile span between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace would cost an estimated $50,000,000. Of this, a federal government grant could pay $25,000,000 and a revenue bond the other $25,000,000.

With tolls from the bridge paying off the bond, Woodfill added, the bridge could be built without any major cost to the state.

The committee urged the legislature to create an authority empowered to "legally act after carefully studying the construction and financing of a bridge."

Bi-Partisan Committee
Woodfill emphasized that his committee was bi-partisan, as an authority should be.

"One of the primary purposes of the committee," he declared, "is to keep this thing out of politics."

A pamphlet to be circulated throughout Michigan said 1949 traffic across the Straits would be 600,000 automobiles and 1,700,000 persons. By 1965 this would mount to at least 1,500,000 cars and 4,125,000 persons, according to the committee.

A bridge replacing the present ferries at the Straits "would create a new market for goods and services for the people of the lower Peninsula by bringing the Upper Peninsula into their zone of business influence," the pamphlet declared.

Woodfill said the idea of creating a new authority had the backing of state highway commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

Additional backing was given by Ziegler's Democratic opponent in War Against Communism

Ex-Commies Are Allies In Big Battle Of Words

By PETER EDSON
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

The 50-year war against Communism in the United States has been, in last analysis, a talking war. Words are the revolutionary's weapon of biggest calibre. Counter-propaganda is the fortress.

The Communists have used words more aggressively, more unilaterally and with a louder and more insistent tone than the anti-Communist. But the result has hardly been effective. The real damage has been done by the "echo press"—subsidized organs of front groups and well-meaning but innocent liberal publications, which pick up the line without recognizing it.

The Daily Worker, Sunday Worker and the party's deep-dish intellectual monthly—formerly "The Communist" and now called "Political Affairs"—have been able to garner circulations in the low thousands. They never have made any money and have had to be subsidized by Moscow or by American angels. A goodly percentage of their readership is anti-Communist; study the line, these subscribers know, and you will be better able to refute it.

The infiltration into Hollywood is well known, because of the pending Supreme Court test case against two of the 10 writers charged with contempt of Congress. In the war years there was some penetration of radio, but shortly after V-J Day both NBC and ABC took seven-league steps to get rid of the leftists on their writing staffs.

In the pamphlet and leaflet fields, no one knows how much stuff the party and its fronts have been able to produce. An attempt to collate this literature is going forward at the University of Michigan, whose Labadie collection of radical literature is heavy with Communist tracts.

On the anti-Communist side, the counter-barrage has been formidable. In the first decade of the 30-year war, what U.S. writers produced was not impressive. It was a time of hysteria and much of the stuff was of the scare variety, so exaggerated and wild-eyed that its impact was virtually nil.

It was 10 long years before a new of the bolder spirits learned that you cannot fight a lie with another lie, and that cold fact, passionately uttered, is the most devastating of answers. This coincided with the discovery, among many writing men, that the new Communist philosophy was as phony as Moscow's claim to inventive firsts. When it became clear that the Soviet was only interested in the proletariat as a surface thing, and had as its major aim the expansion of its own imperialism, there was a rush into print.

The most trenchant pens were in the hands of ex-Commies. The result was several five-foot shelves of excellent "true confessions," ranging from Jan Valtin's "Out of the Night" to Louis F. Budenz's volume of disillusionment, "This Is My Story."

Others who have pounded potent typewriters against Communism include Eugene Lyons, John Dewey, John Dos Passos, Max Eastman, Sidney Hook, James Burnham, James T. Farrell, William Henry Chamberlain, Charles Rumsford Walker, Lillian T. Symes, Evelyn Scott, Suzanne LaFollette, Isaac Don Levine, Ferdinand Lundberg, Harry Gideonse, Ludwig Lore, Benjamin Gitlow, Morrie Ryskind, Edmund Wilson, Benjamin Stolberg, Gen. Walter Krivitsky, Victor Kravchenko, Joseph Zack, Jay Lovestone and many others.

It should be made clear that only a few of these—Lovestone, Gitlow, Lore, Budenz and Zack—were ever actual party members.

All these and other present-day critics of Communism, from Dr. Dewey to Wilson, have been bitterly assailed by the American Communist press. The party finds it hard to forgive the man who quits and keeps his mouth shut. It finds forgiveness impossible for those liberals whose praise it has sometimes trumpeted, when their sympathy ceases and all-out denunciation takes its place. But the "victims" are undisturbed by such vilifications as "Stooge of Wall Street" and "Poison Pen Artist." Coming from such a publication as the Daily Worker, say, this amounts to laurel wreaths.

For a day-in-day-out counter-propaganda job, the daily press does as well as can be done. The most effective medium has been in straight news stories. Pick up almost any newspaper and it will tell you something about Communist activity in one or more of many fields—religion, schools, labor relations, social relations, foreign relations.

The importance of this running news story has been well realized by editors, who in some cases have assigned excellent reporters to do nothing but watch the fronts. Outstanding among these reporters is Frederick Wiltman, of the New York World-Telegram, who holds a Pulitzer Prize and is regarded as one of the best-informed men on the Communist movement anywhere in America. Lyle Wilson of United Press has done a magnificent job of exposing Communist political skulduggery.

Another highly noteworthy reporter is Benjamin Stolberg, who now works closely with the anti-Communist writers. Stolberg prepared a series "Inside the CIO" for the Scripps-Howard newspapers in 1938. The material was later published in book form. At the time the Commies had virtually taken over the CIO. Stolberg's series, while it was bitterly assailed by liberals, fellow travelers and the labor press, had a striking effect in the crystallization of public opinion.

Today, the CIO News, now edited by Allan Swim, does a nicely balanced job of crusading against Communists in the CIO ranks, whereas only a few years ago it often traveled along with some of the most radical.

Grandma Moses Has Some Competition

Santa Monica, Calif. (P)—Move over Grandma Moses. This sea-shore city has a painting Granny, too. Mrs. Alice Robbins, 90, who "never even thought of going in for art until a few weeks ago," has finished two canvases. And they aren't bad, say admiring local art fanciers.

The nonagenarian's first effort was a landscape copied from a post card; her second a hunting dog.

"I remember so well," she says, "how the dogs used to stand just like that when they pointed to prairie chickens in Minnesota."

Business Feels Both Inflation And Deflation

By SAM DAWSON

New York (P)—Business is in the middle again. Businessmen all over the country feel the pull of both inflation and deflation, forces that appear to most observers to be closely matched just now.

Winter resort owners in Tucson, Arizona, are asking if inflation is in the cards—meaning easy and plentiful money back east, and more customers for winter resorts. A secretary in San Francisco asks if inflation is on the way back—meaning rising prices for the things she buys, while her own pay rises much more slowly, if at all.

It may be spring before we know: whether we're headed for another boom; whether we're in for a sharper bust than last spring; or whether we somehow or other have achieved the unexpected—an almost painless retreat from post-war inflation to a lower but still prosperous plateau of business activity.

Prices Going Up
Perhaps more persons think that inflation is the stronger force just now. They cite the pickup in orders which revived backlogs in such industries as paperboard, shoes and textiles. They list the rise in prices, here and there—such as tires up seven per cent in a month, Du Pont's four per cent hike in rayon viscose yarn over the weekend and coffee prices bumping the sky.

Supporting the view that inflation is coming is the quick rebound of steel production after the strike, and the word today that Jones & Laughlin, the nation's fourth largest steel producer, expects a hike in price on this basic product. Other items are the easing of the threat of a coal shortage and the prospects of labor peace; the building boom; the slowly mounting cost of production in many industries; and the steady climb of installment buying to record highs.

Chief argument that inflation is on the way lies in the swelling tide of government spending, the treasury's deficit financing, and insistence on low interest rates. These offer the essence of inflation, which is the increasing of the supply of money and the cheapening of its buying value.

Upturn Temporary?
On the other hand, many observers cite their own list to show that deflation may still have quite a way to go yet, and that the recent upturn in business may be temporary.

Businessmen themselves have slowed down their own spending for new plant and equipment. The building boom reflects largely governmental and institutional construction, and the revived boom in home building, spurred by the high marriage rate. But the expansion of production facilities is slowing down.

Also, farm income is falling and the government predicts it will fall farther. Food prices are weakened, at the farm level at least, by surpluses. Some even question the ability of the government to support prices if another bumper crop next year piles up additional surpluses in government bins.

Miss Seymour Is Bride At Bangor, Mich.

Schaffer, Mich.—Before an altar banked with chrysanthemums, Miss Isabelle Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seymour of Schaffer, exchanged vows with John Stassek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stassek of Bloomingdale, Mich., at a nuptial high mass in Sacred Heart church at Bangor, Mich., Nov. 26.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown with chantilly lace bodice, V-shaped neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her triple-fold, shoulder length veil fell from a crown of chantilly lace and she carried a white prayer book adorned with white rosebuds, a gift of the bridegroom.

Rita Seymour of Westover Field, Mass., was her sister's only attendant. She was gowned in blue satin with beaded embroidery, and wore a blue net headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Ray Yukor of Bloomingdale was best man for Mr. Stassek.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents, for 55 guests. Centering the bridal table was a large wedding cake topped with miniature bridal couple. A reception for 300 guests was held in the evening at North Lake hall.

Employed in Ann Arbor

The new Mrs. Stassek, a graduate of Escanaba high school, is employed in Ann Arbor by the Michigan Bell Telephone company. Her husband, a graduate of Kalamazoo high school, is employed with the Western Electric company in Ann Arbor.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Seymour wore a brown dress with hunter green accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Stassek was attired in a paisley print with blue accessories and wore a corsage of carnations.

For going away the bride wore a brown gabardine suit with brown accessories and an aqua top coat. After a wedding trip to Wisconsin, they will make their home in Ann Arbor.

continue to slide, in spite of the helping hand of the Marshall plan dollar, devaluation of foreign currencies, and the talk about point four encouragement of prospective markets abroad—all supposed to make foreigners more prosperous and hence better customers.

However, many industries find it increasingly hard to maintain their profitable markets abroad. Either there are no dollars overseas to buy American goods, or the foreign government won't let American goods in. Hollywood was among the first to find its once golden outlet cut off, and the oil industry is worried now.

Too, there is the continuing stubborn resistance of most consumers to higher prices. Coupled with rising production costs, this trims the profit margin, and in many industries the ratio of earnings to sales goes lower. And taxes stay high, may go higher. The pessimists contend that all of these could unite to sharpen a recession once it started rolling again.

The balance between inflation and deflation is too close just now for most cautious observers to hazard a guess as to which way it will tip.

4-H Leaders To Be Feted

Banquet And Awards For Faithful Service

Schoolcraft county 4-H club leaders will be guests at an annual recognition banquet, Tuesday evening, Dec. 13, it has been announced by Fred Bernhardt, district 4-H club agent.

A. G. Kettunen, State 4-H club leader from East Lansing, will be the main speaker on the program, which will be held at the Manistique township hall. The Home Economics clubs of Manistique township will serve the banquet.

Leaders who have completed one, five and ten years of service will be awarded leadership pins. Mrs. Clyde Hutt of Seney and Miss Beatrice Thorley of Germfask, will receive ten year awards; Mrs. Leo Lawrence of Germfask, will receive a five years award. First year pins will be given to Mrs. Leroy Oberg and Mrs. Arnold Hendrickson, Hiawatha township; Miss Carol Wolfe, Cooks; Larry Boyd, Manistique; Miss Beverly Peters and Frank Meade of Germfask.

Thirty-seven 4-H club leaders and their husbands or wives are expected to attend. Other guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Clayton D. Reid, county agricultural agent; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burns, Manistique township supervisor; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sample, chairman of the county board of supervisors; and Jerome Allen, Schoolcraft county delegate of National 4-H Club Congress.

Trouble In Store For Chiselers On County Relief

Heads of families who fail to provide for their own, are in for serious trouble, William J. Sheahan, prosecuting attorney of Schoolcraft county announced.

The prosecutor states that there has been an alarming increase in the number of complaints from wives that their husbands are not providing them with enough money to pay for the support of their families and there is room for suspicion in many instances that this trouble complained of could be remedied by the husbands.

One case in point, mentioned concerns a family that had applied for relief, and when it was turned over to the county welfare office a checkup disclosed that the man had quit his job. A checkup with his former employer disclosed that the job was still open. The applicant was told that before his case would be considered, he would have to get a letter from his employer stating that the job was no longer open. The applicant, up to the time of this writing, has not contacted the employer. That man is said to get into trouble, said the prosecutor.

Cases of a like nature were also cited where a little ambition on the part of the husband and father could alleviate the borderline of starvation to which their families have been subjected. The wives, fearing reprisals from their husbands and the publicity that would perhaps come of it, have refused to swear out complaints. Assurance has been given that charges will be preferred by the welfare agent against men who needlessly make public charges of their families.

There are, of course, cases where husbands have made a sincere effort to find work and have failed. These cases are easy to check up on, said the prosecutor, who adds that it is just as easy to detect where men are needlessly tapping Schoolcraft county's relief load. Men have been sent to Marquette for doing such things, he said.

NOT A DROP TO DRINK—Dr. George Klotzbaugh holds a "dry raindrop" in the path of a radar beam at the Westinghouse Laboratories in Pittsburgh, Pa. The make-believe drops, made from a plastic mixture, have the identical electrical behavior of real rain. Using the drops and sensitive measuring instruments, scientists can determine the effect of rain, sleet and snow on ultrashortwave radar, the kind used by military planes. The work is being carried on for the Office of Naval Research.

Teachers Inspect
Local IndustriesWere Guests At
Blaney In Evening

Manistique's place in the economy of Upper Michigan was impressively demonstrated to about fifty teachers of the city, parochial and rural schools of Schoolcraft county Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Under the auspices of the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce a tour of the industries and business places of the city and of Port Inland was made. Included in the itinerary were not only the major industries, but also such minor establishments as garages, bakeries, shoe repair shops and stores with some at hand at each place to explain various phases of the industry visited.

At noon, the guests were taken in one of the company's buses to Port Inland where the teachers and other visitors were guests at luncheon and later conducted about the rock crushing mills, loading devices and the docks.

Also during the day special tours were arranged through the Manistique Pulp & Paper Company mill, the Michigan Dimension plant and the Northwoods Manufacturing Company mill.

In the evening the teachers were guests of the chamber of commerce at a dinner held at Blaney Park at which Andrew Miller, member of the public relations department of the Mead Corporation was the principal speaker. R. G. Hentschell presided as toastmaster.

Good Girl Employe
May Be Handicapped
In Job Of Mother

Washington, (AP)—A child specialist believes that some of the habits that make a girl a good employe sometimes handicap her in being a good mother.

"Young women are no longer reared for the main purpose of being wives and mothers," Dr. Leo Kanner of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, said in a paper for an American medical association meeting. "Most girls nowadays are prepared for a vocation."

That can be very good, Dr. Kanner said, and can enrich married life.

"But very often the job puts a premium on punctuality, meticulousness and perfectionism which it often becomes impossible for the mother to shake off when dealing with her children."

"Especially the first-born child of the secretary, the salesgirl, the factory piece worker, the laboratory technician, the librarian or the nurse gets the whole brunt of this tense perfectionism, being more or less a substitute for the typewriter, the cash register, the machine, the test tube, the book shelf or the medicine cabinet."

To the tribal chiefs of the American Indians during the 1860's, owning a totem pole was like having your name in the social register.

Detroit Red Wings Are Undeclared Away From Home

By the Associated Press

It's a good thing for the other national hockey league clubs that the high-flying Detroit Red Wings don't play all their games away from home.

The league leaders today had a season record of 16 triumphs, five losses and three ties — and their five losing games all came on their own rink. They're unbeaten on the road, with eight victories and two ties.

The Wings added to their lead last night by handing the Boston Bruins their first defeat in seven home contests, 2-1. That boosted Detroit's point total to 35, or 13 more than its nearest pursuer, idle Montreal.

Only three points separate the five teams behind the pacemakers, it could be called a bunched battle were it not for the Wings.

The Bruins not only lost the game, but two players—Pete Horeck and Dave Creighton — with leg injuries.

Horeck, acquired from the Wings this season, was the victim of a deep cut below his right ankle, the result of being boarded near the end of the first period. Creighton suffered a bashed right knee in the second period.

Gerry Couture and George Gee were the big guns for the winners. Couture shot home a 20-footer in the first eight minutes and Gee put over the deciding

Stranahan Defends Title In Miami; Winter Play Starts

Miami, Fla., Dec. 8 (AP)—Play began today in the 26th annual Miami Open Golf Tournament, which marks the start of the winter circuit. A bulky field of 231 competed for $10,000 cash for the leading pros and trophies for the amateurs.

The first threesome was scheduled to leave the No. 1 tee at palm-lined Miami Springs Country Club at 6:30 a. m. (EST.) followed at six-minute intervals by other of the nation's best shot-makers.

The 6,470-yard par 70 course was in perfect trim for the 72-hole event. Its Bermuda grass greens were clipped and close as a crew haircut.

Chick Harbert, husky pro from Detroit who won first money of $2,000 last year with a 274, topped a $50 prize yesterday when he won the driving contest with a belt of 274 yards into the wind.

Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., winner of last year's tournament with 270 has been playing the course for three weeks to get in shape to defend his title.

Eighteen holes will be played each day. The finals are set for Sunday. The field will be reduced to 60 low pros and ties and 10 low amateurs and one champion.

National Open Champion Cary Middlecott of Orono Beach, Fla., holder with Jim Ferrier of the international four-ball title won over the same course last winter, ranks among the favorites.

The former Memphis dentist set a record for the back nine with a six under par 29 Tuesday and had a 31 on the front nine yesterday.

Big Ten Directors Start Deliberations

Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—Big Ten conference athletic directors opened their winter deliberations at a luncheon meeting today, but the important business of 1953 football schedule making will not get underway until Sunday.

The conference drum beaters, the men who write publicity about Big Ten sports and athletes, stole a march on the directors, coaches and faculty representatives by holding their meeting yesterday.

Called together by Walter Paulson of Northwestern University, the chairman of the college publicists, the Big Ten writers, discussed income from advertising, number of advertisements in programs and further standardization of basketball statistics.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS

SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Wudyaknow! You can keep the old golf swing right in the groove throughout the long, cold winter.

Or, if you didn't particularly care for that horrendous monstrosity you masqueraded as a golf swing last summer, you can try out a new one at Vial Smith's golf class at the senior high gym here Every Thursday evening.

That's tonight, you know, and Vernon Ihlenfeldt, who is in charge of adult education in Escanaba, would like to have you join the class. It meets at 7.

Individual instruction is given by Smith, who is Highland's expert. Equipment includes a practice net, tee and real balls. So after you've absorbed Smith's instruction, you can really let yourself go. How about it?

Cuff notes: It is not likely the Escanaba Hawks will play that Christmas day game with SMAC. The players are against. Christmas is Christmas. We can sympathize with Norman Kukuk, U. P. Hockey league commissioner, however, in the problems of making out this year's schedule. Two Marquette teams are entered, and Marquette won't have any home ice until mid or late January because of installation of an artificial ice rink in the Palestra. And every team has certain favorite nights.

Elmer Peterson, old Gladstone high and Washash star, will coach the Gladstone team in the new Delta-Menominee Junior High Basketball league. He is a member of the Gladstone high school faculty. Regardless of how you or I might feel about the two-platoon football system, Fritz Crisler of Michigan has polled Michigan players each year for the last four years and they are overwhelmingly in favor of it. So, it's a letter and a chance to play—even if it is defense, or offense, all the time.

Red Blaik, Army coach, says one reason the platoon system is generally unpopular is because of the word "platoon." "A lot of people still don't like the Army," he says.

Remember Johnny Hockstad, the little fellow who played a lot of basketball for Manistowish high school last winter? He's on the varsity squad at Northern Michigan in Marquette, a pre-pharmacy student and smallest player on the squad but—if you'll pardon the pun—Johnny can really handle the pill.

And then, of course, there's Jack "Pappy" Schels, of Escanaba, a sneaky veteran and physical education major. He's listed in Coach C. V. Money's books at Northern as an "excellent team man" but in the next line it says he's "an eligible bachelor." I don't get it!

Lee Oma To Battle Louis In Exhibition

Detroit, Dec. 8 (AP)—Heavyweight Lee Oma will replace the injured Bernie Reynolds in a 10-round exhibition bout with Joe Louis at Olympia Stadium Dec. 14.

Oma, who has beaten some of the best heavies and has been pasted by some of the worst, was signed by matchmaker Nick London yesterday. Reynolds suffered a shoulder injury near his Cliffside Park, N. J. home Tuesday.

Titans Are Welcome To Mo. Valley Title

Detroit, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Missouri Valley conference is happy to have the University of Detroit its football champion for a change.

Detroit's Titans won the 1949 title in their first year in the conference.

Last night at a team banquet Art Eilers, conference commissioner, presented the trophy to Detroit.

"With a grin Eilers remarked: 'I am happy to see this trophy finally move. It had been held tight in the state of Oklahoma by the Aggies and Tulsa for the past eight years.'

Southworth Says Dark, Sain Will Not Be Traded

Baltimore, Dec. 8 (AP)—If Billy Southworth is troubled by reports of discontent among his players, the balding Boston Braves' manager is giving no sign of it.

Making his first appearance at the minor league convention yesterday, Southworth cleared some of the tension.

"There are no differences between me and my players as far as I'm concerned. Sure I'd like to make some deals, but only if I think they will strengthen the Braves," he said.

Reports that Southworth had to make changes to his personnel stemmed from the sad situation in Boston all last season. Rumors of a player revolt during spring training followed by the club in mid-season and the notorious half-share voting incident, all led to the belief that the manager was sure to clean house for 1950.

To emphasize the point that the anticipated house-cleaning won't come off, Southworth revealed that pitcher Johnny Sain and shortstop Alvin Dark—two of the players supposed to be on the trading block—were on his "don't trade" list.

Southworth said that Sain, who won only 10 and lost 16 last season, "will pitch for the Braves next year. I think he will come back as good as ever. Dark also will bounce back. He is too good a player to let a poor sophomore season discourage him."

Leon Hart, Doak Walker Keep Bo McMillin Busy; He'd Like To Land Both

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Two of 13 years ago, indicated.

"I'm waiting for the right offer," the 21-year-old all-American end from Turtle Creek, Pa., said. "I won't play unless I get what I want."

The six-foot-four, 260-pound flankman, who is fast enough to play fullback, was asked what sort of a figure would interest him.

"You might say $25,000 a year as a starter," he replied. Then he winked, leaving you to decide whether he was serious.

Bo McMillin, coach of the National football league Lions, was in town, too, last night to speak at the Heisman Memorial award dinner honoring Hart as the outstanding football player of the year.

McMillin has been talking with Walker, last year's Heisman winner, as well as Hart, but acknowledges he has made little progress with either athlete.

"I hope to have them both in our backfield next year," the silver-haired coach drawled. "I'd play Hart at fullback and Walker would make a fine addition to our team."

Hart, whose draft rights in the All-America conference are held by Baltimore, hinted he was leaning toward the Lions because auto manufacturers in the Motor City had offered him off-season jobs utilizing his engineering talents.

The Irish co-captain thus may go into pro ball "better fixed" than such luminaries as Georgia's Charlie Trippi, Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack and Mississippi's Charlie Conerly, who signed fabulous contracts.

Trippi reportedly got $100,000 for five years with the Chicago Cardinals and the Giants' Conerly and Chicago Bears' Lujack fell just short of that.

Foxes Drop 64-63 Melee To Republic

Unprecedented 3rd Loss In Row For Hermansville

Hermansville, Dec. 8—They're going to call the Hermansville board of basketball strategy into special session.

The Silver Foxes last night lost their third straight game in the NWM league. Not since Adam was a pup has this happened to Hermansville's independent basketball pride and joy.

It's just fair warning that Hermansville's next NWM foe will have rough going. The Foxes are out for blood.

Republic's Shooting Stars turned the trick last night by a 64-63 count (ouch!). It was Republic's first win. John DaSanto set the pace with 17 points but he got plenty of help from Lemmans, Walt Wentela and Lindeman, another Channing star.

The Foxes were cold at the start and that's what kept them. Republic led 18-5 at the end of the first quarter. Hermansville made a noble try but it couldn't quite overcome that deficit.

Iron Mt. Seeks New Industry

Small Woodworking Plants Advocated

Iron Mountain, Mich. — Three specific steps toward the expansion and encouragement of small woodworking shops in the Iron Mountain area, as a move toward combatting unemployment in the community, were taken by unanimous vote of Mayor Ruffin's newly-organized Full Employment Committee at a meeting in the city council rooms. About 25 community leaders, including proprietors of the wood-working industries, attended.

The three steps are:

- 1.—To invite into the community wood-working specialists of the government's purchasing agencies, to confer with the local proprietors on methods of determining government needs, and for instruction on how to apply for permission to bid on required commodities.
- 2.—To arrange a conference between wood-working proprietors and bankers of Iron Mountain, Norway and Niagara, for inquiry into loan privileges which would permit expansion of plants and additions to payrolls.
- 3.—To form an association of wood-working industries in the community for the purpose of pooling the effort towards expansion of plant and production, bidding for government business, development of markets outside the immediate area, and merchandising methods.

In my opinion, any effort to "soft pedal" Numberg (war crimes) will inevitably play into the hands of those Germans who do not want a democratic Germany.—Brig.-Gen. Telford Taylor, chief counsel for war crimes.

The goal of a decent home for every American family within 10 years is not just a slogan. It is a practical objective which must be achieved.—Leon H. Keyserling, economic adviser to President Truman.
